Abstract: We conduct allergen tests and desensitization treatment to 154 patients with BICOM® 2000, a device for the treatment of allergic diseases made by Regumed Company of Germany. We reverse and magnify the bio-wave of allergen and put it back into human body to make the desensitization treatment. The results show that the total effectiveness rate of this device in desensitization treatment reaches as high as 89% and total recovery rate is 78%.

Key Words: Bio-Resonance System; Desensitization Treatment; Allergen.

From June 2002 to January 2004, we treated 154 allergic-disease patients with the Germany-made bio-resonance treatment system, BICOM® 2000, including such diseases as allergic dermatitis (skin disease), rhinitis, allergic conjunctivitis, and asthma. We conducted the allergen tests for these patients, and made clinical treatments and observations. The results are reported as follows:

The allergy is an abnormal immunity reaction in human body caused by the allergic matters in natural environment. The reactions may be strong or weak. It is a natural occurrence when people keep a close contact with the allergic matters.

1. General Information:

Among the 154 patients, 40 of them suffer eczema, 26 urticaria, 18 contagious dermatitis, 3 neurodermatitis, 20 allergic rhinitis, 1 allergic conjunctivitis and 46 asthma. 90 of them are male sufferers while 64 are female. Age: Male sufferers are from 30 days to 61 years old while females range from 20 days to 72 years old. Average Age: Male: 30; Female: 36. The course of disease ranges from 1 day to 20 years. All sufferers had not taken any anti-allergic medicines before the allergen tests or during the period of treatment.

2. Allergen Test:

Not only can we take advantage of the more-than-400 kinds of allergens provided by the bio-resonance system, but also we can take the suspected allergens provided by the sufferers, which can be tested through infrared scanning and testing system, without any pain and any hurt. Any substance has its own wave and fixed basic frequency. The basic wave-pattern of everybody is the same. Difference degree of disturbances will generate different disturbance wave when people contact with different substances. When the disturbance wave exceeds the normal range, different physiological reaction will be caused, such as allergy and asthma. ①

To make a test at different informative points, we can get the bio-wave information about the important part of the human body. After ruling out disturbances, we can make the allergen tests. If the test shows that the human body's reaction to a substance exceeds the range of basic wave, we can confirm that he or she is allergic to the substance. Principle: When the signal of an allergen enters human body in a way of reversed mirror image, it is an abnormal wave (the wave is caused due to not being compatible between the signal of allergen resonance and the signal of body resonance). To try to make it normal, and we can confirm this allergen. Due to the complicated causes of allergic diseases, the result is more accurate when the allergen test is conducted during the breaking-out period.

The Test Result of Allergens:

Allergens	Dust and Mite in Room	Milk	Yolk	Egg White	Milk Sugar	Wheat	Formaldehyde	Goose Feather	Poison of Mosquito	Peanuts	Mixture of Flowers and Grass	Wormwood	Mixture of Fish and Meat
Male	25	26	5	10	2	3	4	1	3	1	2	3	5
Female	10	10	2	8	3	5	5	2	5	0	3	5	6

3. Therapy:

All sufferers are treated with desensitization method with the bio-resonance system. After reversing and magnifying the bio-wave of different allergens, we put them back into the sufferers' bodies, treating the sufferers with desensitization method in breaking-out period: once a day or once every other day, 3-5 times in succession. In the cases of chronic diseases, we made it once or twice a week, 5-8 times in succession.

4. Judgment of the Curative Effect:

We judge the curative effect according to the improvement of clinical symptoms, and no recurrences within 6 month.

Recovery: Allergic symptoms disappear completely. No recurrences happen within 6 months after the treatment stops.

Obvious Effective: Allergic symptoms disappear completely. Recurrences happen after treatment stops but with slight symptoms.

Effective: Allergic symptoms are relieved obviously, but recurrences happen after the treatment stops.

Ineffective: There is no obvious relieving in allergic symptoms.

Calculation Method:

Recovery Rate = Cases of Recovery / Total Treatment Cases x100%

Total Effectiveness Rate = (Cases of Recovery + Cases of Obvious Effectiveness) / Total Treatment Cases x100%

Attached Table:

The Clinical Treatment and Observation Table of the BICOM® 2000

Name of Disease	Total Cases	Recovery	Being Obviously Effective	Being Effective	Being Ineffective	Recovery Rate — Total Effectiveness Rate
Eczema	40	34	4	2	0	85%-----95%
Urticaria	26	19	5	1	1	73%-----92%
Contagious Dermatitis	18	15	1	1	1	83%-----89%

Neurodermatitis	3	1	1	1	0	33%-----67%
Allergic Rhinitis	20	16	1	2	1	80%-----85%
Asthma	46	34	5	5	2	74%-----85%
Allergic Conjunctivitis	1	1	0	0	0	100%-----100%
Total	154	120	17	12	5	78%-----89%

5. Treatment Results:

To treat the allergic diseases with the BICOM® 2000, the total effectiveness rate is 89% and total recovery rate is 78%. During the treatment period, or after the treatment being finished, all sufferers don't feel uncomfortable, and there are no unhealthy reactions.

6. Discussion:

We have treated the allergic diseases with a great number of traditional therapies. We have not found an obviously effective treatment method until we used the BICOM® 2000. As early as 1970s, German scientists began their research on utilizing substance wave (bio-resonance technology) to treat the allergic diseases^①. At the end of 1990s, they made a breakthrough in this aspect. The sufferers, after being treated with the bio-resonance technology, will not suffer allergy when they contact the allergens again. The allergic symptoms disappear completely when they are not quite isolated from the allergens. That is to say that after recovery, recurrences will not happen unless the sufferers contact the allergens in a great deal. The bio-resonance technology is based on the theory of physical wave proposed by a French scientist, Mr. Louis Victor De Broglie, who won the Nobel Prize for this theory in 1929. Based on the theory of physical wave, all substances show their substance code with ultra-faint resonance—a specific signal of ultra-faint resonance. This specific signal can be transformed to use for diagnoses and treatment of diseases. There are many definitions about allergy. According to the theory of physical wave, allergy is a phenomenon of biophysical information.^② The allergic phenomenon in human body is caused by the allergic mark, which comes from the close contacts between human body and substances. With the accumulation of this substance information, the biophysical mark will be formed. It is the biophysical mark that is the very cause of disease. Once this biophysical mark exists in human body, it will be maintained and kept in dormancy. When contacting the allergens again, the biophysical mark will be activated. And the biophysical pulse will bring out some common allergic diseases, such as skin itch and amigo-oedema, etc.^③ The characteristics of the mark are: It keeps a unique resonance information, which can be collected and magnified and reduced. Each information of allergic mark is the only bio-resonance pattern of this kind of allergen. And this allergic mark can be tested and changed through appropriate means and specific signals. When we use the bio-resonance technology to treat allergic diseases, we can test out the signal of allergen, and reverse its mirror image in a synchronous way. The reversed resonance wave of the allergen (The wave represents a uniquely specific confirmation code which can influence the allergic memory stored in human body) can be magnified and put back to the specific part of human body. The reversed resonance wave (the wave of the mirror image) will weaken the wave generated by the original allergen. Through the resonance system within human body, the allergic mark will be erased step by step, restoring the abnormal wave into a normal one. And the human body will be restored.^④ Through the practices of using BICOM® 2000, we realize that the BICOM® 2000 differs from the traditional treatment method. The sufferers don't need any medicine or injection. The patients will not suffer any pain or hurt in the process of treatment. And the treatment process is simple, secure and effective. This method is particularly applicable to those sufferers who are turned out to be ineffective after a long-time medicine. It can avoid such unhealthy reactions, which are caused by taking histamine-resist medicine orally such as sleepiness, fatigue, or are caused by taking Candy cortex hormone. It is a worthy of method in clinical practices.
